

Mission Statement:

To become a Web Developer at a start up company in Trondheim, Norway. It is important that this company has a dedication to the community in some way so that I can help others with my newly developed skills. The workplace must be authentic and focused on the welfare of both employees and customers alike. I will bring my many years of customer service to the table, and constantly continue to improve my professional skills as a Web Developer.